SECTION II: For People Who ARE Working

14.

Answer the questions below for your current job(s). Indicate the type of work you do, who you work for, how many hours you work, and whether or not you like your job overall.

IOW: The questions below ask for details about your paid employment. Fill this in for each of the jobs you have. If you have more than 3 jobs, complete this question for the 3 where you work the most hours.

Note: a “Volunteer Position” is any type of job that a person does without getting paid. If someone has a volunteer position, and does not have any paid work, skip to Section III.

Interviewers: Ask the individual you’re interviewing to describe each of their jobs one at a time. Use the following definitions to identify the type of job a person has based on their response, and/or to explain what the different terms listed below mean. You do NOT need to read this entire list aloud during the interview!

Job:

The kind of work you get paid to do. If you have a job title, list that, and/or share a few words to describe your work

Types of Employment:

“Self-Employed/Business Owner”

- You work running your own business, which includes developing and following an organized business plan
- Being Self-Employed is different from having a hobby and selling a few of the things you make from time to time
- The Division of Developmental Disabilities is currently working on a clear definition of what it means to be Self-Employed based on the definition that the IRS uses

“Independent Contractor”

- Independent Contractors work providing services for others on a job to job basis, rather than having any one position with regular hours and a steady paycheck
- People pay you directly for your services, but they are not your employer because you're your own boss. This means you can decide which jobs to do, how to do them, and what fee you will charge
- For example, people who get paid to be on a speaker's panel or consult on a project are Independent Contractors

“Competitively Employed”

- You are paid at least minimum wage to work in an integrated community setting
- You also earn the same amount that someone who does not have a disability would be paid to do the same job

“Non-Competitive/Provider Paid”

- You work for the same agency that provides your support services
- You never had to compete with people who don't have a disability to get this job because your agency only hires the people it supports for this position

Employer:

- The business or individual who pays you a regular paycheck to work for them.
- If you are an Independent Contractor, the money you are paid for your work is not considered a “regular paycheck”
- If you’re Self-Employed or an Independent Contractor, write “Self” for your answer to this question

# of Hours:

- The total number of hours you usually work at a job each week
- If the number of hours you work changes from week to week, list your average. For example, if you work a lot of hours one week, and not as many the next, add all of your hours for both weeks together and divide by two (2)
- If you don’t work every week, write your average monthly total in that box instead

Job Satisfaction:

- How do you feel about your job? Thumbs Up or Thumbs Down?
- Are you happy to have this job or would you rather not have it?
- A person can dislike some things about their job, and still like their job!

d.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes. I want to work, but I don't know what type of job I want to get (skip to question #34)

29.	What type of job do you want to get?

Why do you want to get the type of job you listed in question #29 instead of a different type of job?

IOW: If you could do any job that you want, what makes you want to do this one?

Here are some reasons why people want to do a specific type of job. Check all that apply:

- I've had this kind of job in the past and I liked it
- My friends are doing this kind of job
- It's one of the jobs that my provider agency can get me
- My family or guardian think I will be good doing this kind of job
- It's something I know how to do
- I've tried different jobs/work trials and this is the one I decided I like the most
- I've done a vocational assessment and it says that I will be good at this kind of job
- I've always wanted to do this kind of job

Write anything else a person shares in the space below:

(Skip to question #34)

Why don't you think you're able to work?

Some people don't feel ready or able to work because they have other things they need to deal with in their life first, such as health concerns, their current housing situation, lack of confidence, or family support.

What issues do you need to address in your own life before you think you'll be able to work if you want to?

Here are some reasons why people don't think they are able to work. Check all that apply:

- I don't think I'm physically able to work
- I don't think I'm qualified to do the type of job I want to get
- I don't know how to go about finding a job
- I think I will need more support than I get now
- I don't know if my agency can give me the kind of support I need to help me get a job
- I'm afraid it will affect my benefits or make my rent go up

- I have some personal concerns that I need to deal with first before I can think about getting a job
- I am having some health issues that are preventing me from working
- I don't think my family or guardian will approve of me getting a job
- I'm afraid people will make fun of me at work
- I haven't found a job that interests me
- I thought I had to retire/didn't think I could work because I'm past retirement age
- I like being with my friends during the day. I'll miss them if I get a job and don't see them anymore
- I haven't told anyone that I want to work yet

(Skip to question #34)

Why don't you want to work?

Here are some reasons why people say they really don't want to work. Check all that apply:

- I've had some bad experiences doing different jobs and I don't want to have any more of them
- My family/guardian(s) don't want me to work and I plan to do what they tell me
- I know how work will affect my benefits and I would rather keep all my benefits than get a job
- I want to retire
- I like being retired more than I liked working
- I don't like going to work. I'd rather stay home or do things with my friends

33.	If you know you really don't want to work, have you applied for a Variance?
	IOW: If you're absolutely certain you don't want to work, that's OK. Contrary to what you might have heard in the RI Rumor Mill, you won't lose your day support services.  If you are 100% sure you really don't want to work , you do need to apply for a Variance to let the Division of Developmental Disabilities know about your decision. A Variance documents that a person had enough information to choose between a path that may eventually lead to competitive employment, and a path that doesn't.  Note: The survey is an opportunity to tell people about RI's Employment First philosophy. Employment First means that the DD Service System will support everyone who wants to work to do so! A Variance is only for people who have made an informed decision and are clearly choosing not to work.  If a person wants to work, or is undecided about getting a job, they need a Career Development Plan that helps them address the barriers they face. They don't need a Variance.

39.	Add any additional comments you would like to share about the Employment Services and supports you currently receive to help you achieve the employment-related goals that you've chosen to work on. If you don't have anything to add, write "N/A": IOW: This is your opportunity to speak-up! Share your thoughts about the supports you receive related to your current job, and your employment goals in general. For example: Do you have any issues, concerns, or compliments about any of the agencies that supports you? Did you have any difficulty finding an agency? If you Self-Direct your services, how's that going for you? Do you have any suggestions to improve the Employment Services funded through the RI Division of Developmental Disabilities overall? What's on your mind?
